cybercafes which are places where internet access is provided for free provide the opportunity for people without access to the internet or who are traveling to access mail and instant messages read newspapers and explore other resources of the internet due to the important role internet cafes play in facilitating access to information there is a need for their systems to have well installed software in order to ensure smooth service delivery security and software for cybercafes provides relevant theoretical frameworks and current empirical research findings on the security measures and software necessary for cybercafes offering information technology professionals scholars researchers and educators detailed knowledge and understanding of this innovative and leading edge issue both in industrialized and developing countries china has lived with the internet for nearly two decades will increased internet use with new possibilities to share information and discuss news and politics lead to democracy or will it to the contrary sustain a nationalist supported authoritarianism that may eventually contest the global information order this book takes stock of the ongoing tug of war between state power and civil society on and off the internet a phenomenon that is fast becoming the centerpiece in the chinese communist party s struggle to stay in power indefinitely it interrogates the dynamics of this enduring contestation before democracy by following how chinese society travels from getting access to the internet to our time having the world s largest internet population pursuing the rationale of internet regulation the rise of the chinese blogosphere and citizen journalism internet irony online propaganda the relation between state and popular nationalism and finally the role of social media to bring about china s democratization this book offers a fresh and provocative perspective on the arguable role of media technologies in the process of democratization by applying social norm theory to illuminate the competition between the party state norm and the youth subaltern norm in chinese media and society
